

Coproduction: are we nearly there yet?

If you want to share and learn about partnership practice in a safe space then this is the free 'one-day' event for you!

Celebrate and learn across the Allied Health Professions (AHPs):
Coproduction, Integration and Partnership

2nd October, 9am- 4pm, 2014, Stirling Management Centre

AHPs and key stakeholders from the third, health, social and independent sectors are invited to attend 'a conference with a difference'. This event will explore the principles and benefits of coproduction and partnership working.

We will consider how AHPs contribute to Scotland's 20:20 vision and reap the benefits of transformational change. Together we will offer a safe space to explore and support a common understanding of coproduction and:

How in partnership we keep people well, healthy and at home for longer
How we celebrate, share and develop relationships across sectors
How we engage practitioners' passion for improving peoples personal outcomes

Places will be limited to 100 delegates with every effort made to include a good spread of practitioners across sectors. Please register by 24th August, 2014 via CNOPPP Admin Mailbox:

CNOPP_Admin@scotland.gsi.gov.uk

Confirmation of place and final programme will be circulated in September, 2014

For further information please contact Heather Hall, AHP National Lead for LTCs and Coproduction: Heather.Hall@alliance-scotland.org.uk